ATHENS

Athens is most well-known as the city that spawned democracy as well as for its many historical landmarks. It was established in the middle of the Bronze Age and continued to be a significant center for political and cultural life during The Classical period. In the present, Athens is the capital of Greece and is among the most visited tourist places in Europe. Tourists flock to Athens due to its rich history and rich culture and its numerous beautiful monuments. One of the most well-known places of interest is Parthenon which is a temple dedicated to goddess Athena that was constructed around the time of the 5th century BC. Other landmarks worth mentioning comprise The Temple of Poseidon, the Acropolis as well as The Ancient Agora. Athens has a variety of museums, including those of the National Archaeological Museum and the Acropolis Museum, which give visitors the chance to discover how the city has developed over its extensive history.

TOURIST ATTRACTION

Parthenon

- It is a stunning example of classical Greek architecture, and its history and significance make it a must-see for any visitor to the city. The temple is dedicated to the goddess Athena, and was built as a thank-you to her for helping Athens to victory in the Persian War.

Acropolis of Athens

- The Acropolis is a beautiful sight that attracts tourists from all over the world. It is a reminder of the rich history of Greece and its many contributions to the world. The Acropolis was once home to kings, a citadel and a religious center. It was also a mythical home of the gods. Today, it is a popular tourist attraction due to its stunning architecture and history.

National Garden

- The National Garden of Athens is a big green-space with above 160.000 square meters adorned by 500 types or plants and trees from all around the world! As you take your excursions through this beautiful city, reserve some time to visit one of the most tranquil places in Greece: The gorgeous garden in Athens. When going there without advance tickets it's best not buy them since they're quite expensive but if buying tour tickets then remember that these include admission into The Natural History Museum which has amazing exhibits on display

Mars Hill

- Mars Hill is a must-see for any visitor to Athens. With breath taking views of the Acropolis, its easy enough that you'll be able take plenty pictures without even having climb too far! The peacefulness makes this spot all worthwhile though; no matter how long your vacation lasts or where in Greece hostels are located - Mars hill will leave an impression on every person who visits.

Hellenic Motor Museum

- Hellenic Motor Museum is a car lover's dream. The 4,000 sqm museum houses more than 110 vintage vehicles from around the world and provides an informative look into Greece's history with innovation in transportation technology throughout centuries! Visitors can't miss this must-see attraction located just minutes away from Athens' National Archaeological Monument--it has been called "one fantastic experience" by tourists who came here after reading reviews online. Museums aren't usually associated as being particularly exciting places but if you want some good laughs while learning about cars then head on down to Limassol Brewery tour first before going inside HMMs because when we say 'brewery', they might think twice.

FOOD IN ATHENS

Moussaka.

- Moussaka is a rich delicious dish made of spiced meat (lamb or beef) prepared in tomato sauce and then layered with fried eggplant and tasty béchamel sauce. This is one of the ultimate traditional Greek dishes that you must try if you come to Athens.

Zucchini Balls

- The zucchini season is here and these Greek Zucchini Balls will make you forget all about your winter blues! These delicious fried pancakes or fritters are topped off with grated cheese, chopped fresh mint leaves (to add an extra kick!) Plus they're served up as a vegetarian appetizer dish that comes complete with homemade tzatziki sauce for dipping. It doesn't get much better than this summer has finally arrived.

Cheese saganaki

- The most delicious of dishes are those that bring people together. Cheese saganaki, with its gooey cheesy goodness and tanginess from the lemon juice sauce can do just this for friends around an Dinner table or even in your stomach! A nice square cut piece (or slice)of cheese is placed over low heat until fragrant before frying it up golden brown on both sides to enjoy alongside some freshly squeezed Cyprus juice served hot right away so you don't have too long wait

Horiatiki salad

- The Horiatiki salad is a classic dish that has been enjoyed for centuries. This authentic Greek recipe consists of only five ingredients - tomatoes, cucumbers (with the peel), bell peppers and red onions all cut up into large chunks so they can be easily eaten by hand or with utensils such as knives and forks! There's no lettuce in this meal either; it's just loads o' veggies topped off thanks to some creamy feta cheese blocks.

MARKET IN ATHENS

Athens Heart Mall

- The Athens Heart Mall is the latest shopping destination to grace the city of Athens. Located in the historic Koukaki district, the mall offers visitors a unique shopping experience with its four levels of designer fashion stores, technology and home items. The mall's modern design is the work of Conran & Partners and diarchy, and it features a distinctive roof hatch that offers magnificent views of the Acropolis and Lycabettus Hill.
